

Holiday Greetings

 myemail.constantcontact.com/Holiday-Greetings.html

Holiday Greetings from the ATE team... and from the elephants

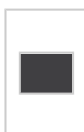

We have good news--the drought is over. Amboseli received just under average rainfall for this time of year, but it was enough to bring up the bright, green grass that is so important to all the grazers. We at ATE feel optimistic for the New Year. We wish all our supporters, friends and elephant lovers Merry Christmas, Happy Holidays and a peaceful New Year for both people and elephants.

Cynthia Moss

Director

Amboseli Trust for Elephants

Elephants in Your Christmas Stocking?

There are several ways you can support ATE by giving an elephant-themed present to a friend or relative.

Our Elatia Project is the perfect gift for an elephant lover. For just US$30 per year you can follow one of the Elatia elephant families with exclusive photos, films, and updates on the family's progress.

The word 'Elatia' means 'neighbour' in the Maasai language. So what are you waiting for? Join the Amboseli neighbourhood! Click here

For supporters with higher budgets who would like to get up close and personal with the Amboseli elephants, we are running our special holiday offer to name one of Amboseli's elephant calves. Do you have a special friend, partner, parent, or grandchild you would like to honour in this way? Remember ATE is a 501(c)(3) charitable foundation which means your donation is tax deductible. To name a calf write to us at info@elephanttrust.org.

Genesis's calf enjoying a snooze by her mother's feet - GB Family

This Year's Newborns

For elephants, the biggest gift is the arrival of a new member to the family. There is always a sense of excitement and joy. We would like to share that happiness with our followers and supporters.

Ann's newborn female calf - AA Family

Europa's newborn son - EB Family

Enid's male calf - EB Family

Fadila's new baby boy - FB Family

Please consider ATE in your year-end charitable giving. We are entirely supported by individual donors and small foundations and we rely on you to help us keep elephants safe and in the wild.

Please donate

Cynthia Moss

Director

www.elephanttrust.org

STAY CONNECTED:

